CIRCUIT CLINICAL
Buffalo, NY  |  Irfan Khan
Circuit Clinical is one of the largest integrated research organizations in the U.S. and is dedicated to empowering patients to choose clinical research as a care option. Their experience running clinical trials led them to build TrialScout – the first-ever ratings and reviews platform for clinical trial centers. It is this combination of their clinical trial services and their platform TrialScout that gives Circuit Clinical a unique position in the industry as experts in optimizing the patient experience in clinical trials.

ROBODUB

Seattle, WA  |  Parminder Devsi

Robodub has built patented, adaptive multi-rotor drones where the rotor position can be altered autonomously to carry asymmetrical as well as shifting payloads. Rotor position can be altered by sliding the rotors along the arms or by changing the angle between the adjacent arms. This allows them to counteract any change in the center of gravity of the drone while flying. The U.S. Army, U.S. Navy, and USAF are among their customers.
